About Julia

Julia is a recent graduate of Saint Mary's College where she received her Bachelor's degree in Classics and Philosophy. She worked at her college's Center for Women and Gender Equity as the Event Coordinator and Gender Justice Leader, partnered with the YMCA Teen Center in Berkeley to create and found a program for female minority first-generation college students, and is currently an Intake Counselor at Eviction Defense Collaborative.

Her professional passions include working with underrepresented communities, using holistic and integrative approaches to address the health of the whole person, and exploring restorative justice. She plans to attend graduate school within the next year to earn her MSW with the goal of eventually becoming an LCSW. Her personal interests include film photography, hiking, traveling, reading, and meditation.
